WHETHER in a prospective or retrospective point of view, no Science is more worthy of cultivation and encouragement, than that, which calculating time by the aid of Astronomy, adjusts the results of observations, thus obtained, to the ordinary use and instruction of man in the various relations of historical knowledge, commemorative guidance, or religious observance.

In the latter respect, a correct Calendar is of imperative necessity to the descendants of that People, who are enjoined by Scripture authority to the performance of Rites and Ceremonies upon the periodical return of certain "days, times, and seasons," and which instituted by their Legislator, bear testimony to the latest posterity of the wonderful interposition of Providence in their favour, on the occasions recorded in those Scriptures.

It is on this account (independent of others of high consideration), that the Jews have been proverbially anxious to regulate themselves by the most accurate principles in the formation of their Calendars.

The Jewish Calendar, published by Mr. Nieto, A.M. 5551, —1791, comprising also the corresponding dates of the Christian Æra, is now about expiring. From the conviction of the utility of such an Almanack, I was induced, in my leisure hours, to compile a similar one for the use of my family; the materials increasing upon my hands, I improved the plan, without the least idea of giving it publicity, but the urgent request of many respected friends, to whose opinions I defer, has emboldened me to offer it to the Public, after obtaining the sanction of the Rev. Dr. Solomon Hirschel, and the Rev. Mr. David Meldola, for whose flattering testimonials (as annexed), I am greatly indebted.

The Introduction to the work will shew, that the Jewish Calendar is much more ancient than many authors suppose it to be ; a short account is also given of the present Christian Calendar, and the last alterations made in it.

The Rules for the Jewish Calendar are chiefly taken from the works of Maimonides, who, following the system of preceding Sages, divided the hour into 1080 parts (as it greatly facilitated their calculations, being divisible by any of the units except 7), which I have reduced to our present division of time ; by these Rules our Calendar may be continued to any length of time.

The Tables immediately following, will render it an easy task when required, to continue the Calendar in its present form for 338 years, the corresponding Christian dates having been calculated with accuracy.

That our Festivals and Fasts may be more particularly known, I have added an Index of the various places in Scripture where any allusion to them is made.

The Division of the Sections of the Law and the Prophets, as read in our Synagogues, may be useful to those who, unacquainted with the Hebrew, may be desirous of reading them, at their stated times, in another language.

In the Sections of the Prophets there are some small differences between the Portuguese and German Rituals, which I have pointed out, so as to render the Table equally serviceable to both.

The information as to the hours when Divine Service commences in the different Synagogues, will prove of utility to those frequenting them.

I have formed a Table of the hours at which Sabbath terminates during the year, which I have been enabled to correct from information kindly furnished me by the Astronomer Royal, G. B. Airy, Esq, F. R. S., and which has been sanctioned by the aforementioned authorities ; it will also serve as a guide for private Fasts.

I have added a List of our Religious and Charitable Institutions,* in the hope that, by their being more generally known, they will obtain additional support from the Benevolent, and thereby enable them to encrease the benefits they at present confer; and although some few are exclusively confined to particular Congregations, yet the Members of the others are ever ready with their purses and personal exertions, to contribute their aid to benefit mutually the Societies of each.

In alluding to these Institutions, I am confident I only express the general feeling of the Jewish community in gratefully acknowledging the kind Patronage and the generous support bestowed on several of them by the Members of the Royal Family, and by many benevolent individuals of the Christian public.

The ancient part of the Chronological Table will be found conformable to Scripture authority (making allowance at times for the difference of regnal and current years) and is derived from various Hebrew Chronologists, but chiefly from סדר הדורות (the Table of Generations)

The modern part is from the most approved Authors; the cruelties inflicted on the Jews under the Romans, recorded in these pages, were the fearful consequences of a brave People struggling to regain their Independence.

In later periods, the persecutions with which they were assailed, will be seen to have been either the acts of Princes who sought to replenish their empty coffers; or the unbridled thirst of a populace seeking for plunder; except in some few instances of a blind fanaticism, where the name of Religion was used, or rather, abused.

To the honour of the Christian Clergy, it should be known, that they were generally more ready to protect, than to persecute, a People, whose crime, in the eyes of the multitude, was an adherence to the Religion of their Forefathers; for the oft-told futile tales of using Christian blood in their Paschal Rites, or poisoning running streams, require no comment in the present Age

* In this List the Gift of Sir Moses Montefiore, in 1823, to the Portuguese Congregation, of the Freehold, Cock Court, Jewry Street, to be appropriated as Alms Houses, has been inadvertently omitted.

Those Governments who have employed Jews in public situations, have ever found them faithful to the trusts confided to them. I could have greatly extended the list of those, who have been honoured with Titles and Orders by enlightened and liberal Sovereigns; or have been selected by their Fellow-citizens for the most important duties.

To avoid a superfluity of figures, I have discontinued the Hebrew date, after page 111, except in the notices of our learned authors; when that date for any particular event is required, it can be found by adding 3760 to the Christian Æra.

The line of Hebrew in the title page requires explanation for those unacquainted with the Jewish writers, whose general custom is to select a Scriptural sentence, analogous to the work, to intimate the date, all our letters being numerals, those in larger characters than the text, added together, form the year, in the present instance 598 (the thousands being generally omitted). The most appropriate I could find I have adopted; the translation of it is—

“And let them be for signs, and for seasons, and for days, and years.”
Genesis, 1, v. XIV.

Having given to the Work the most patient attention and research to render it complete, I trust it will be found useful and instructive; and that the difficulties incident to an undertaking of the kind, will ensure it the indulgence of a liberal public.

THE AUTHOR.

SANCTION OF THE REV. DR. SOLOMON HIRSCHTEL, CHIEF RABBI.

DEAR SIR,

“In reply to your application on the subject of the Almanack you intend to publish, permit me to say, it is a principle with me, which I have adopted from my Honoured Father (of blessed memory), and in which long experience has confirmed me, not to afford the sanction of my Office to any new book, the utility of which is questionable, or which, containing mere speculations of human theory, may, by possibility, propagate error, or mislead the mind. That such is my principle is well known, nor would I, on light grounds, be induced to depart therefrom ; but if a work is laid before me, the general usefulness of which cannot be called in question, and which, based on certain and unerring rules, bears within itself the test of its own correctness, I think my sanction ought not to be withheld.

“As such a Book I consider the Almanack to which your application refers. Its usefulness none will dispute, and that the present is a proper time for its publication must be admitted, as the computation of the late Haham Nieto (peace be with him) is so near its expiration.

“I have not been able minutely to examine the whole of the work, but such parts as here and there I have examined I find correct, and I therefore hope and trust that such is the case throughout.

“And though I am not a great proficient in Astronomy and Chronology, yet from what I have seen of your work, and as far as my limited acquaintance with these sciences enables me to judge, I do not hesitate to speak favourably of its merits, and to afford it the sanction of my approval.

I am, dear Sir,

Yours, very sincerely,

SOLOMON HIRSCHTEL,

Chief Rabbi.”

SANCTION OF THE REV. MR. DAVID MELDOLA,
PRESIDING RABBI.

“ MY DEAR SIR,

“ IT is with a high degree of gratification I convey to you my sentiments on the Work you have kindly submitted to my inspection. The sublime Science of Astronomy has exercised the particular attention of our Ancient Talmudists, from the most remote periods of time, and in accordance to the language of Holy Writ, applying it to them, “ For this is your wisdom and your understanding in the sight of the nations ;” to their accurate computations, and to the manner in which they have so wisely treated and developed the principles of this Science, they have been indebted for the high distinction in which they have been held, and for this they have been held in admiration by all nations in successive ages. The importance of their researches is obvious, and highly necessary in order that the proper observance of our Holy Festivals should be held in the due seasons and accurate times, commanded by the Scriptures, and by their profound investigations, they have established the חכמת העבור

“ From my early years, I have by the assistance of God, had my thoughts led particularly to this sublime subject ; partly through the direction and assistance of my late revered Father, whose erudition in it was acknowledged to be profound ; and partly, from an earnest desire to thoroughly understand the Science.

“ From these, and similar advantages, I trust I may be allowed to express my opinion on the Work, you are now about to present to the public. I consider you thoroughly informed and well versed in this Science, and well qualified to throw additional light on the study of it. In the present times, I consider a work of this description not only highly necessary, but actually wanting ; and although many eminent Works have of late appeared on this subject, particularly in Italy, yet the manner in which you have so ably and accurately treated it, shows this Work to be one of those calculated to be of eminent service to the world at large and to our Nation in particular.

“ Wishing you success in this, and all your other Literary undertakings which I have so much admired,

I remain, with all respect,

Your's most truly,

DAVID MELDOLA,
Presiding Rabbi.”

INTRODUCTION.

WITHOUT entering into the Rabbinical accounts of the origin of the Hebrew Calendar, it will be sufficient to show its antiquity, and to point out the erroneous opinions of various Christian Authors, some of whom date its formation the same year as the Council of Nice, A.C. 325. The learned authors of the Encyclopædia consider it to have been formed in A.C. 360, while others date it as late as A.C. 500.

The Mishna, written by Rab Judah the Prince, more generally known by the title of Rabenu Akadosh, i. e. our Holy Master, which is a compilation of the Oral Law, written to prevent its being lost by our dispersion A.C. 180 according to their Chronologists (but according to ours A.C. 141), is the first work we have that treats in any way on the Calendar; the following extracts prove that our present form, and the intercalary month were generally known and followed at that time as at present:—

“If a person read the Meguila (the book of Esther) in the first Adar, and subsequently finds it to be an embolismic year, he must read it again in the second Adar (the intercalary month), there being no difference between the first and second Adar, except that on the latter the Meguila is to be read, and the Purim presents to be given, which is not done in the first Adar.”—Treatise Meguila, Chap. 1, Aphor 4.

“If a man vows not to drink wine for a year, should it be embolismic he may not drink it all that year, although it contains thirteen months; but if a man vows not to drink wine until the beginning of Adar, he may drink it at the commencement of the first Adar.”—Treatise Vows & Oaths, Chap. 8, Aphor 5.

Our next author was Rab Samuel, the Astronomer, who boasted that the paths of the heavens, were as well known to him, as the streets of Nahardea, where he resided ; by his calculation the Solar year consisted of three hundred and sixty-five days six hours, the same as the Julian, which has been found to be incorrect ; although it is supposed he was acquainted with the precise time as well as Rab Ada, but he stated it in round numbers to render the calculations easier.

The errors in the Julian, or Old Style, were corrected in 1582, by Pope Gregory 13th, who deducted ten days from October, making it that year to consist of twenty-one days only, that difference having occurred since the Council of Nice, whereby Easter had been kept at improper seasons, according to the ordinances of that Council. To endeavour to prevent the recurrence of these discrepancies, he ordered that only every fourth instead of every centenary year should be Bissextile. Thus the years 1900, 2100, 2200, and 2300 will not be leap years, but 2000 and 2400 will be Bissextiles.

Although the Gregorian calculations have been made with great nicety, they are still imperfect, and other alterations must take place in future ages. As a proof, the Council of Nice ordained that Easter should not be kept on the same day as the first day of Passover, in order that there might be no appearance of Judaism in it ; "Nè videantur Judaizare" to prevent which they ordered its observance on the Sunday after the full moon, Passover being always kept the day of the full moon ; and yet in 1825 both were kept on the same day, and this will again happen in 1903. (12th April.)

Holland and the Protestant States of Germany adopted the New Style in 1700, by making that year to consist of 355 days only.

The King of Sweden fearing that striking off ten days at once might prove prejudicial to commercial transactions, adopted it gradually, by making no leap year from 1696 to 1744, the ten intermediate Bissextiles being only of 365 days, made the year 1741 the same as other States, except England, where it was only adopted in 1752, by making the 3rd of September to be reckoned the 14th, for having made the year 1700 Bissextile, it became necessary to deduct 11 days instead of 10 days, as other States had done.

Russia is now the only European State that adheres to the old style,* which is yet observed by the Greek church, and thereby differs with the Protestant and Catholic churches in the observance of Easter sometimes eight days, in some years a month and even five weeks, but in some years it is observed at the same time.

Contemporary with Rab Samuel, the Astronomer, was Rab Ada, born in Babylon, A. M. 3948—A. C. 188, consequently he must have written a century previous to the Council of Nice; his calculations are those we are guided by, and the experience of near seventeen centuries has proved their correctness, not the smallest error having been discovered in that period of time.

* Owing to the Year 1800 not having been Bissextile, there are now twelve days difference between the Old and New Styles; after 1900 there will be thirteen days.

From these calculations, in A. C. 353 Rab Hilel formed tables for making calendars, which we use to this day ; from the approximation of the dates, it is easy to be conceived that the authors of the Encyclopædia supposed these tables to be the origin of our calendar.

The Talmud and Guemara also offer some explanations of them, but the best elucidations are those by Maimonides, in his " Sanctification of the Months."

Many authors have since written on them, among the most modern are the works of Rab Emanuel Aboab, of Amsterdam, in the early part of the 17th century, and those of Rab David Neito of this city, about the year 1700 ; who wrote in Italian, a work entitled Pascologia, dedicated to Cardinal de Medicis, in which he pointed out the errors that had arisen in the observance of Easter, and how it might be prevented in future.

ON THE HEBREW CALENDAR.

The Jewish year is luni-solar, for although the months are lunar, our calculations being founded on the lunar cycle, every nineteenth year we come to the same date in the solar year.

The cycle contains 235 lunations, which we divide into 12 Years of 12 months, and 7 (termed Embolismic) of 13 months.

The celebrated Mathematician Meton, of Athens, who flourished 432 years B. C., which was in the reign of Zedekiah, A. M. 3328, made the same division of time, but by making every third year Embolismic, the 18th and 19th were both of 13 months: by our arrangement the solar and lunar years are better equalised.

19 years, according to Rab Ada, each

1	of 365	5 55	$25\frac{25}{27}$	—	6939	16	33	$3\frac{1}{3}$
235 lunar months	29	12	44	$3\frac{1}{3}$	—	6939	16	33	$3\frac{1}{3}$

The year is of three kinds, perfect, common, and imperfect.

The perfect has 355 days, and is when the months of Hesvan and Kislev have each 30 days.

The common, 354 days, when Hesvan has 29 and Kislev 30.

The imperfect, 353 days, when both have only 29 days.

The Embolismic year is formed by the introduction of an intercalary month, immediately after Adar, which is called Veadar, or the Second Adar.

The year then consists of 385, 384, or 383 days, according to the rule above. The reason of the introduction at that period is, that Passover may be kept in its proper season, which is the full moon of the vernal equinox, or after the sun has entered Aries; it is indifferent at what period of it the full moon happens, but it must be kept while the Sun is in that sign.

That a time was fixed for its observance is shewn in Numbers, chap. ix. v. 2, "Let the children of Israel also keep the Passover at its appointed season."

That our months have always been lunar, is shown by 1st Kings, chap. vi. v. 38, "And the eleventh year, in the "month" of Bul, which is the eighth "month," &c. By a reference to the Hebrew text it will be seen, that the two words translated "month" are different, the first being derived from the word יָרֵחַ "Moon" and the latter from חֲדָשׁ "Innovation"

Our months are the following—

Tisri	which has	30 days.	Nisan	which has	30 days.
Hesvan	„	29 or 30.	Yiar	„	29.
Kislev	„	29 or 30.	Sivan	„	30.
Tebet	„	29.	Tamuz	„	29.
Sebat	„	30.	Ab	„	30.
Adar	„	29.	Elul	„	29.

In Embolismic years Adar has 30, and the intercalary month of Veadar 29.

As a lunation from one conjunction to another, termed a Synodical Month, consists of $29\frac{12}{24}44\frac{3}{4}$, being $29\frac{1}{2}$ days and about $\frac{3}{4}$ of an hour, it could not be better arranged than by making one month of 29, and the following of 30 days.

When a month has 30 days, the last day of that month and the following day are both kept as New Moon, on the principle that a holiday cannot be kept part of a day, the 30th day being half in the preceding month and half in the new moon, the whole day is made a holiday, and the following as a matter of course, from its being the first whole day of the new moon.

That this rule was followed in ancient times, is to be seen in 1st Samuel, chap. xx., from which it appears that David was accustomed to eat with Saul on the New Moon :—

v. 5.—And David said unto Jonathan, behold to-morrow is the New Moon, and I should not fail to sit with the King at meat. And

v. 27.—And it came to pass on the morrow, which was the second day of the month, that David's place was empty, and Saul said unto Jonathan, his son, wherefore cometh not the son of Jesse to meat, neither yesterday nor to-day?

It will have been seen, that by this arrangement there is yet a deficiency every month of 44 min. $3\frac{1}{2}$ sec., making nearly 9 hours in years of 12 months: to make up this deficiency, one day is added to Hesvan every second or third year, by which that month then consists of 30 days. When Hesvan has 30 days, Kislev invariably has the same.

Without Hesvan having 30 days, Kislev is sometimes made 30, which is done to prevent Passover happening on Monday, Wednesday, or Friday, for as that festival regulates all the other holidays, it is arranged that none may fall on days on which they could not be properly observed.

On the same day of the week as the

1st. day of Passover are the Fasts of Tamuz and Ab.

2nd. ,, ,, the first day of Sebuot and Hosana Raba.

3rd. ,, ,, the first day of New Year and Tabernacle.

4th. ,, ,, the Rejoicing of the Law.

5th. ,, ,, Kipur, the day of Atonement.

Consequently were the first day on Monday—

Purim would have been on Saturday, and

Kipur would be on Friday;

days on which neither could be observed.

If it were on Wednesday—

Kipur would be on Sunday, on which it could not be kept, the reason is, that as Kipur has the same strict ordinances as Sabbath, it cannot precede or follow the Sabbath.

If it were on Friday—

Hosana Raba would be on Saturday, a day on which the ceremonies of it could not be observed.

By the above regulation it will be seen that Rosh Ashana can never fall on Sunday, Wednesday, or Friday.

This holiday is to be observed on the day of the conjunction, with the following exceptions:

1st. If the conjunction takes place on Sunday, Wednesday, or Friday, the holiday is to be kept on the following day, as in 5604.

2nd. If the conjunction should happen after noon, the following day is to be observed, and if that should happen to be Sunday, Wednesday, or Friday, the next is to be kept as in 5601.

3rd. If the conjunction takes place in an ordinary year, on Tuesday, on or after 9*h.* 11*m.* 20*s.*, A. M., it is not to be observed thereon; and as it may not be kept on Wednesday, it will be observed on Thursday, as in 5616.

An objection may be made to this, as New Year should be observed on the day of conjunction; but were it to be so kept the preceding month of Elul would only be of 27 or 28 days, and a month can never be less than 29.

4th. The conjunction being on Monday on or after 3*h.* 30*m.* 52*s.* P.M. in a year immediately following an Embolismic, the holiday is to be kept on Tuesday, as in 5617.*

* This occurs but seldom.

19th ,, Embolismic.....	5605	5624	5643	5662

From the above table, it will be seen that our embolismic years are 3rd, 6th, 8th, 11th, 14th, 17th, and 19th.

To find if the year is Ordinary or Embolismic.—

Divide the year by 19, the quotient is the number of the last completed Cycle, and the remainder is the year of the Cycle, should it be 3, 6, 8, 11, 14, 17, or 0, it is Embolismic, if any other number it is Ordinary.

EXAMPLE.

Is the year 5600 Ordinary or Embolismic ?

$$5600 \div 19 = 294 - \text{rem. } 14.$$

It is consequently Embolismic, being the 14th year of the 295th Cycle.

To find the time of the Conjunctions and New Moons, during the year. It having been already stated that the time from one Conjunction to another is $29\ 12\ 44\ 3\frac{1}{3}$, by adding that sum to the one known, the day and time of the following is obtained, but as every seven days would of course bring it to the same day of the week, to abridge the calculations the sevens are thrown out as superfluous, and the remainder only is used; thus, $29 \div 7 = 4$, remainder 1; therefore, by adding $1\ 12\ 44\ 3\frac{1}{3}$, instead of $29\ 12\ 44\ 3\frac{1}{3}$, the same result is obtained, as the following table for 5607 shows.

Name of the Month.	Day of the Week.	Hour.	Min.	Sec.	Thirds.	Days of the New Moon.

Kept on Saturday, conformably to rule 1, page 8.

By the same rule the Conjunction of any period may be found.

Thus for a year of 12 months, the days being 354, divided by 7, the remainder is 4, therefore add 4*d.* 8*h.* 48*m.* 40*s.*

add..... 4 8 48 40

5608, as page 10..... 6 9 20 3 1

For an Embolismic year, the days being 383, divided by 7, the remainder is 5, therefore add 5*d.* 21*h.* 32*m.* 43½*s.*

5608, is 6 9 20 3 1

add 5 21 32 43 1

5609 will be..... 5 6 52 46 2 as in Calendar.

Thus for a Cycle, the days being 6939, divided by 7, the remainder is 2, therefore add 2*d.* 16*h.* 33*m.* 3½*s.*

5606, the 1st year of the 296th Cycle, is 4 15 42 43 1

add 2 16 33 3 1

5625, the 1st year of the 297th Cycle.... 7 8 15 46 2

NOTE.—When the hours are more than 12, they are as many past noon as they exceed that number.

To find if the year is Perfect, Imperfect, or Common.

Seek the day of the week on which New Year happens of the year required, as also of the following year: if the intervening days are

2 in Ordinary years, or 4 in Embolismic, it is imperfect.

3 ,, 5 ,, common.

4 ,, 6 ,, perfect.

EXAMPLES.

Is the year 5601 perfect, imperfect, or common?

The conjunction is.... 7 18 11 16 2 consequently Monday will be New Year.

add for an ordinary year 4 8 48 40

The conjunction of 5602 5 2 59 56 2 New Year, on Thursday.

between Monday and Thursday

Tuesday and Wednesday intervene, i.e. 2 days—It is imperfect.

What is 5602 ?

d. h. m. s. th.

The conjunction is 5 2 59 56 2 New Year is on Thursday.
add for an ordinary year 4 8 48 40

The conjunction of 5603 2 11 48 36 2 New Year will be Monday.

between Thursday and Monday,
Friday, Saturday, and Sunday intervene, i.e. 3 days.—It is common.

What is 5603 ?

The conjunction is 2 11 48 36 2 New Year on Monday.
add for an embolismic year 5 21 32 43 1

The conjunction of 5604. . 1 9 21 20 New Year on Monday.

both being on Monday, there being six days intervening between one Monday and another.—It is perfect.

To find the day for commencing the Winter Prayer for Rain, in the Hamidah, or Eighteen Blessings.

It is began 60 days after the Sun enters Libra, according to the calculation of Rab Samuel, which, during the present century, is on the 6th of October, therefore seek the date of the Hebrew month corresponding to that day, which will generally be found to be in Tisri, the same date in Kislev is the day on which it is to be began. Thus, in 5601, the 6th of October corresponds with the 9th of Tisri, therefore the 9th of Kislev is the day.

But if a perfect year, whether Embolismic or Ordinary, it is a day earlier in Kislev, as in 5607, the 6th of October is the 16th of Tisri, the day for commencing the prayer is the 15th of Kislev.

The year preceding a Bissextile it is one day later, from the three years previous having been each six hours short, the difference is three-quarters of a day at that period for which one day is added.

After the present century, owing to the year 1900 not being Bissextile, it will be reckoned from the 7th of October.

 stop to traffic thereon..... „ xiii. 15
 Blessed is the man that keepeth the Sabbath..... Isa. lvi. 2
 The Sabbath a delight „ lviii. 13
 Bear no burdens on the Sabbath day Jer. xvii. 21
 New Moon, kept now as a minor festival, but by the following passages of Scripture, appears to have been kept more sacredly in former times.
 Extra offerings thereon Num. xxviii. 11
 To-morrow is New Moon, and I should not fail to sit with the king at meat 1 Sam. xx. 5
 It is neither New Moon or Sabbath. 2 Kings iv. 23
 The New Moons and Sabbaths I cannot away with..... Isaiah i. 13
 I will also cause all her mirth to cease, her feast days, her
 New Moons, and her Sabbaths, &c..... Hosea ii. 11

 The particulars how to be observed, its duration, and punishment for infringing it... „ xxiii. 26
 Additional offerings thereon..... Num. xxix. 7
 Our Rabbis teach that forgiveness is not to be expected, unless we have forgiven those who have injured us, and that by true repentance we may hope for forgiveness, as in the case of Ninevah..... Jonah i.

The Infidel or Voluptuary may ridicule the idea of the Almighty Creator of the Universe being pleased or displeased with a man for having a full or empty stomach, but whatever tends directly or indirectly, to subdue rebellious passions, and subject a creature like man, to the restraints of reason and religion cannot fail of being a matter of the highest importance to our well-doing here, and our everlasting destiny hereafter.

TISRI. 15. Tabernacle, a feast of rejoicing for the gathering in of the harvest. The Tabernacle is in commemoration of the children of Israel dwelling in booths on their coming out of Egypt.

First ordered.....Ex. xxiii. 16

Again commanded, and ceremonies thereon.....Lev. xxiii. 33

The offerings to be made during the weekNum. xxix. 12

Ordered againDeut. xvi. 13

Kept in Nehemiah's timeNeh. viii. 14

21. Hosana Raba, i.e. the Great, the last day of the festival.

22. Feast of the Eighth day.

Its ordinance, offerings, and observance, will be found immediately following those of the Feast of Tabernacle as above.

23....Second day, called also the Rejoicing of the Law, as the final section of Deuteronomy, and the first of Genesis, are read by two persons elected to the offices under the titles of Bridegrooms of the Law.

KISLEV. 25. Hanuca, the Feast of Dedication, so called and kept as a minor festival, in commemoration of the Dedication of the Altar, after the cleansing of the Temple, from the pollution of Antiochus, by Judas Maccabeus ordered to be observed1 Mac. iv. 59

In this month the winter prayer for Rain commences, the precise day is 60 days after the Autumnal Equinox, by the calculations of Rab Samuel; which varies from the 2nd to the 6th, but is generally on the 4th December.

The reason of its being at this time of the year is, it is the time for sowing and planting in the Holy Land. For the world in general a prayer is offered up on the Feast of the Eighth day.

TEBET. 10. Fast of Tebet.

In commemoration of the commencement of the Siege of Jerusalem by Nebuchadnezzar2 K. xxv. 1

Promised to become a day of joy.....Zec. viii. 19

The Last Sabbath is Sabbath Ahodes (Month).

On which the ordinance that the month of Nisan should be the first month of the year, is read.....Ex. xii. 2

From which the Ecclesiastical year is counted, and all the festivals ordained in conformity; thus New Year is ordained to be observed in the seventh month, &c.

VEADAR. In Embolismic years, all the observances of Adar are kept in this month, in the same order. Sabbath Shekalim is then the last Sabbath of Adar, but should the New Moon of Adar, (or Veadar, in Embolismic years) happen on Sabbath that day is then Sabbath Shekalim.

NISAN. If the New Moon is on Sabbath, it is Sabbath Ahodes, instead of the last of the preceding month.

14. The Fast of the First Born.

When it happens on Sabbath it is kept on Thursday.

It is observed in commemoration of the First Born of the Children of Israel being saved, when the First Born of the Egyptians were destroyed.....

„ xii. 12

15. Passover; the Feast of Unleavened Bread.

In commemoration of the deliverance from Egypt.

First instituted and its various ceremonies..... „ „ 3

Again commanded..... „ xiii. 3

This and the two other festivals enjoined..... „ xxiii. 14

NOTE.—The Sections of the Law end where the following one commences; those that are joined with a brace are often read together, when the Section of the Prophets for the last only is to be read.

When Section 41 is read, after the 17th Tamuz, the Section of the Prophets for 42 is to be read instead of that for 41.

When Section 53 comes between New Year and Kipur, the Section of the Prophets for 52 is to be read, and that for 51 is to be said, although 51 and 52 are read together.

NOTES.

Sept. 26 New Moon, A. 6h. 11m. 16½s.

Dec. 4, Verse to be changed, Kis. 9.

15th year of 295 Cycle.

Year consists of 353 days.

*18 Golden Number.

7 Epact.

C Dominical Letter.

April 11, Easter Sunday.

* The Golden Number, so termed by the Greeks, who, after the discovery of Meton, placed it in letters of gold in their public places, that every one might know if the year was Embolismic or not.

The Christian Fathers adopted it as a rule to find Easter and their moveable Feasts.

The difference between our year of the Cycle and the Golden Number, arises from the uncertainty of the foundation of the Christian Era.

TO FIND THE GOLDEN NUMBER.

Add 1 to the given year and divide by 19, the remainder is the Golden Number, if there is no remainder it is 19.

NOTES.

Sept. 16, New Moon, M. 2h. 59m. 56½s.

Dec. 5, Verse to be changed, Kis. 22.

16th year of the 295 Cycle.

Year consists of 354 days.

19 Golden Number.

* 18 Epact.

B Dominical Letter.

Mar. 27, Easter Sunday.

* The Epact is the Moon's age on the 1st of January, and is found by subtracting 1 from the Golden Number and multiplying the remainder by 11, the product will be the Epact.

If the product exceed 30 divide it by 30, and the remainder will be the Epact.

When the Golden Number is 1 the Epact is 29.

It is used to find the Pascal New Moon.

The Epact will generally be found to correspond with our date of Tebet on the 1st January, there is sometimes a difference of One Day arising from the Epact being calculated in round numbers, as multiplying by 11 where the real difference is only 10d. 21h. 6m. and dividing by 30 where a lunation is only 29d. 12h. 44m.

* A Dominical Letter.

April 16, Easter Sunday.

* The Dominical or Sunday Letter is one of the first seven letters of alphabet, used to indicate the date of the 1st Sunday in January, thus if the 1st January is Sunday A is the Dominical Letter; if on Saturday, Sunday would be the 2nd, consequently B would be the Dominical Letter, and so on.

TO FIND THE DOMINICAL LETTER.

To the given year add its fourth part, and 6 for the present century, (and 5 in the following) divide the total by 7, the remainder deducted from 7 will give the number of the letter, reckoning A to be 1, B 2, C 3, D 4, E 5, F 6, and G 7.

*April 7, Easter Sunday.

* Easter Sunday is introduced to show its relative situation with Passover, and is observed in the same week except when the Golden Number is 3, 11, or 14, in those years it is a month earlier.
 In the years 1832, 1876, 1896, and 1899, the first day of Passover falls on Sunday; in conformity to the ordinance of the Council of Nice, Easter Sunday is kept on the 8th day, being the Sunday AFTER the full Moon.

TABLES

FOR CONTINUING THE

HEBREW CALENDAR

TO THE YEAR

6000

OF THE CREATION,

AND

FOR FINDING THE DAY OF THE WEEK ON WHICH ANY DAY OF THE CHRISTIAN MONTH HAPPENS DURING THE SAME PERIOD OF THREE HUNDRED AND THIRTY-EIGHT YEARS,

BEING UNTIL THE YEAR

2240.

DIRECTIONS

FOR USING THE FOLLOWING TABLES.

Seek the year required in the Table of Cycles, in a line with it will be found certain numbers and a letter of the alphabet, thus—

5684 14 M 9

The figures preceding the letter indicate the column to be sought in the Tables, No. 1 to 6 (pages 90 to 96), in that column will be found the days of the week on which the New Moons, Festivals, and Fasts fall, thus by referring to column 14, it will be seen that

New Year 5684 will be on Tuesday and Wednesday.

Passover " Saturday and Sunday.

New Moon of Ab " Friday, and so throughout the year.

The letter will always be found in the same page as the figures which precede it—thus, in page 95, the column 14 is followed by two columns, marked L and M, which contain a series of Christian dates; to those under the letter indicated is to be added the number which follows it—thus, for 5684, to the dates under the letter M add 9.

In that Column New Year appears to be September 2 and 3; by adding 9 it makes it the 11th and 12th, which will be the date of New Year 5684. An example for the whole of that year will be found in page 95, which will serve as a guide for every other.

Whenever the number added to the Christian date exceeds the number of days of that month, the excess is to be taken for the date in the following month; thus—

Hanuca, in column M, is November 24, by adding 9 it would make it 33, but November having only 30 days, it is consequently 3rd December.

NOTE.—The *S shews the Fast to have fallen on Saturday, and kept on Sunday; the Fasts will then be Guedaliah, Tisri 4th; Tamuz 18th; and Ab 10th; in these instances, one day is also to be added to the Christian date, on which it appears to be by the Tables.

The *Th is when the Fast of Esther falls on Saturday, it is then kept the Thursday previous, that is on the 11th Adar or Veadar, two days must therefore be deducted from the Christian date.

TO FIND THE CHRISTIAN ERA.

If before January, deduct 3761 from the Hebrew year; after January, 3760—thus, the year 5599 is 1838-1839.

INSTRUCTIONS

FOR USING THE CHRISTIAN ALMANACKS, IN PAGES 96 TO 99.

Seek the year required; in a line with that year, under each month, is a figure which refers to the column below it; under the column thus indicated will be found the days of the weeks for that month.

Required to know the day of the week of the 14th September, 1901. In a line with the year 1901, under the month of September, will be found the figure 1. In column 1, the 14th will be found to be on Saturday, the day required.

To find if Bissextile from 1900 to 2100.

Divide the year by 4, if there is no remainder, it is Bissextile.

3055	Athaliah, his mother, assumed the regal authority, and reigned 6 years. She destroyed all the Royal Family, except Joash, an infant, son of Ahaziah, who was saved by his Aunt Jeoshabeath, wife of Jehoiada, the High Priest, and secreted in the Temple.

KINGS OF JUDAH:

A. M.

- 3061 Joash, declared King, at 7 years of age.
Athaliah killed by the people.
- 3083
- 3098
- 3100 Zechariah, the High Priest, son of Jehoiada, stoned to death in the Temple, by order of Joash.
Joash, purchased peace of the King of Syria.
Slain by a conspiracy
Amaziah, succeeded his father, and reigned 29 years.
- 3112 His victory over Edom.
- 3113 Challenged Jehoash.
- 3114
- 3129 Slain by a conspiracy; and succeeded by his son,
Uzziah, who had assumed the royal power in 3115, after the defeat and capture of his father—his reign of 52 years is dated from that period.

3202							Revolted again. Siege laid to Samaria.
3205							Samaria taken, after a siege of 3 years. The remainder of the ten Tribes made captive.

THUS ENDED THE KINGDOM OF ISRAEL.

Some Jews are said to have settled in Germany, at this period.

Don Isaac Abarbanel, asserts in his Commentary on Zechariah, that a family of his name resided at Seville, and another family at Valencia, in the time of the first Temple, from which it may be presumed, that about this period, owing to the distracted state of Judea, some families removed from it.

A. M.

3212	Hezekiah made alliances with the Kings of Egypt and Ethiopia, to free himself from the tribute which the Assyrians had levied on Judah since the time of Ahaz. Sennacherib, the King of Assyria, marched against him, and he was obliged to have recourse to the treasures of the Temple to purchase peace.
3213	Sennacherib returned against Jerusalem; he is miraculously defeated with the loss of 185,000 men; and on his return to Nineveh, is slain by his two sons.

- 1492 The severest calamity the Jews have suffered since their dispersion, was the edict of Ferdinand and Isabella, dated Granada, March 30; it set forth, that:—
"Seeing that the Jews of our States, induce many Christians to embrace Judaism, particularly the Nobles of Andalusia, for this, they are banished under the severest penalties."
The penalty was death, if found in the kingdom of Spain after four months, unless they embraced Christianity. The Inquisitor Torquemada prohibited Christians supplying them with Bread, Water, Meat, or Wine, after the month of April. When neither Justice or Humanity could touch the Royal breasts, Abarbanel had, by the offer of 600,000 crowns, in the name of his Nation, nearly procured its revocation; the interposition of Torquemada alone prevented it. Mariana estimates the number who quitted at 170,000 families, or 800,000 souls; who expatriated themselves from the country that had for centuries afforded them an asylum, that they had enlightened by that learning which cast a lustre on the darkness of the age; they quitted the soil they had cultivated, the happy scenes of their youth, and the graves of their dearest ties, sooner than abjure the Religion of their Forefathers, or abandon that Law their Ancestors received on Mount Sinai.

Notwithstanding the immense sacrifices made to realize their property, it is estimated they took with them 30 millions of Ducats,* exclusive of their plate, jewels, and precious stones. The exiles from Aragon went to Navarre, from other parts many went to Italy, where they were kindly received, even at Rome, by Pope Alexander VI.; although for this cruel act, he conferred the title of Catholic on the Crown of Spain.

Some went to Turkey and Africa; the miseries they suffered are fully described by many authors.

Those who went to Portugal and could pay eight Crusados a head, found an asylum for a short period; the indigent were seized, and sent to colonize their ultramarine possessions.

But for the submission and obedience, which our Religion inculcates, to the Laws of the Country that protect us, the despair and resentment of so many thousands (who would have found ready auxiliaries in the New Christians), might have shaken to its foundation the thrones of their persecutors.

Abarbanel justly praises the forbearance of his Brethren.

1655 A Council was held at Whitehall, the 4th Dec., to which were summoned the Lord Chief Justice Glynn, the Lord Chief Baron Steele, the Lord Mayor, the Sheriffs of London, sundry Merchants, and Divines, to take into consideration the proposals made by R. Menasseh ben Israel, in manner following :—

“These are the graces and favours which, in the name of my Hebrew nation, I Menasseh ben Israel do request of your most Serene Highness (whom God make prosperous and give happy success to, in all the enterprises as your Serene Highness could wish and desire.)—

- 1st. That our Hebrew Nation be received and admitted in this puissant Commonwealth, under the protection and safeguard of your Highness, even as the natives themselves. And, for the greater security in time to come, I supplicate your Highness to cause an oath to be given (if you should think fit), to all the Heads and Generals of armies, to defend us on all occasions.
- 2nd. That it please your Highness to allow us Public Synagogues, not only in England, but also in other places under the power of your Highness, and to observe in all things our Religion as we ought.
- 3rd. That we may have a place, or Cemetery, out of the town, to inter our dead, without being troubled by any.
- 4th. That we may be permitted to deal in all sorts of Merchandize the same as others.
- 5th. That (to the end that those who shall come may be for the utility of this nation, and may live without bringing prejudice to any, and not to give offence) your most Serene Highness will make choice of some person of quality to inform himself of, and receive the passports of, those who shall come in, who upon their arrival shall certify him thereof, and oblige themselves by oath to maintain fealty to your Highness in this land.
- 6th. And (to the intent that they may not be troublesome to the Judges of the Land, touching the contests and differences that may arise betwixt those of our Nation) that your most Serene Highness will give license to the Head of the Synagogue to take with him two Almshouses of his Nation, to accord and determine all the differences and process according to the Mosaic Law, with liberty, nevertheless, to appeal from the said sentence to the Civil Judges, the sum wherein the parties shall be condemned, being first deposited.
- 7th. That, in case that there have been any Law against our Jewish Nation, that they may, in the first place, and before all things, be revoked, to the end that, by these means, we may remain with greater security under the safeguard and protection of your Serene Highness.

Which things you most Serene Highness granting to us, we shall always remain affectionately obliged to pray to God for the prosperity of your Highness, and of your most illustrious and most sage Council; that it will please Him to give happy success to all the undertakings of your most Serene Highness. Amen.” *

The Council met again on the 7th, 12th, and 14th, on which day

The Jews were admitted into England. “Now were the Jews admitted.”†

On the 18th Dec., the conference concerning the proposals about the admission of the Jews, ended without further adjournment or coming to a decision.

The Judges declared there was no law which forbade the Jews' return into England. As the Divines were much divided in opinion, some asserting that the Scriptures promised their conversion, Cromwell§ declared that, since there was a promise for their conversion, means must be used to that end, which is the preaching of the Gospel, and that cannot be had, unless they are admitted where the Gospel is preached; in conclusion the public admission was laid aside, as a thing decreed by the Clergy, but after hearing the debates, Cromwell and his Council did give a toleration and dispensation to a great number of Jews to come and live here in London,¶ and granted them permission to build a Synagogue.
